DIRECTIONS TO EAP OFFICE (MARY ELLEN NIEFER) – LSG 673

If you need directions to campus itself and/or would like a map of the campus, please check the following link http://www2.binghamton.edu/about/visiting-campus/maps-and-directions.html

Directions to the EAP office:

- When you arrive at Binghamton University, come onto campus through the main entrance from Vestal Parkway – the main entrance is located across the parkway from the new United Health Services building.
- Head straight onto campus, bearing right at the traffic circle.
- As you drive towards the center of campus, you will pass the Physical Facilities Building on your right, then Academic Building A, Science 1 and the Lecture Hall building on your left, and Hinman College on your right.
- Just after Hinman College you will see a paid visitor’s lot on your right – this lot is right next to the Nelson A. Rockefeller building. Park here. The EAP office is in the Glenn G. Bartle Library building, directly opposite that paid parking lot. Take a ticket from the machine at the entrance and I will give you a guest parking pass to use to exit the lot.
- Give me a call the EAP office line (607) 777-6655 and an EAP Coordinator will meet you right outside the paid lot. Or, if you are feeling adventurous, you can continue directly to the EAP office. To do that:
  - Cross the street and go down the walkway to the ground floor of the library building (the path is right next to a metered parking lot and on the left side when you are facing the library building).
  - Enter the building through the 2nd outside door on your left.
  - Take an immediate right through the hallway door on your right and you will be in Asian American Studies. The EAP office is in that hallway. Room LSG 673 - on the right side.
