Binghamton University has set up direct international recruitment partnerships with agents to supplement our outreach to high schools and educational organizations.

Binghamton carefully selects our agent partners from among the organizations accredited by the American International Recruitment Council or those that have completed the ICEF training as well as our vetting process. A fundamental part of each of our agreements is the NACAC Statement of Principles of Good Practice, which supports the commitment of Binghamton University and our partners to a transparent and ethical experience for students and families. Please see our current list of our selected partners below:

We will continuously evaluate our relationships and encourage our prospective students, current students, and counselors to contact us if they have any questions or would like to share their experiences with us.
