INTRODUCTION

Our first major university and community photography exhibition attempts to capture the unlimited diversity of the art of photography. The works include a vast range of techniques, themes and concepts, from the traditional to the avant-garde. As a whole, the works reveal the photographers' desire for individual self-expression as well as a concern for a variety of social issues. The works presented show a profound sensitivity to objects and to other people. The exhibitors, the majority of whom are SUNY Binghamton students, will have the opportunity to appraise and compare their own and others' photographic accomplishments. In total, 75 photographers are represented by more than 300 works.

Unfortunately, in choosing the works to be illustrated in this catalogue, we were unable to reproduce every work or to represent every exhibitor. Only black and white photographs have been included due to our limited budget. We also considered the possible aesthetic damage from reducing certain photographs to catalogue size and thus eliminated many photos for that reason. However, the works illustrated exemplify the quality and diversity of the exhibit.

We are particularly proud of this exhibit since the entire show was organized in every aspect by students of this university. Our thanks go to all those students who assisted in judging the entries, to Image, to the Undergraduate Art Majors Committee, to Mrs. Mary Newcome and Mr. Michael Milkovitch of the University Art Gallery, and to every person who took the time and energy to enter their works and to prepare the exhibition.
