STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT BINGHAMTON
foreword

As the studio department of SUNY-Binghamton expands, so also does the student exhibition. This year's exhibition is particularly noteworthy by the variety of media used. To the viewer, many of the pieces show the inevitable influence of the teacher. Yet marks of a personal vocabulary are also evident in the work. Students are encouraged to experiment and to interpret life events and surroundings. This development is often slow and tedious, and many hours of practice are necessary before arriving at a technical proficiency and the desired forms. The students engage the viewer in a whole range of issues extending from purely formal ones to those of a psychological nature. Clearly, the different individual approaches apparent in the exhibition demonstrate the variety and vitality of the work being accomplished in the studio department.
