Matthias Kirchner, assistant professor, electrical and computer engineering

Matthias Kirchner, an assistant professor of electrical and computer engineering, will teach Digital Signal Processing I at Binghamton University.

Kirchner, from Zeulenroda, Germany, received his graduate degrees in information systems engineering and computer science from TU Dresden in Germany.

He has served as a postdoctoral fellow at the International Computer Science Institute (ICSI) in Berkeley, Calif., and as a scientific staff member at the University of Münster in Germany.

Kirchner specializes in multimedia security, media and device forensics, counter-forensics, digital image authentication, steganography and steganalysis.

He enjoys hiking, soccer and DJing (vinyl records).