

We are looking forward to your beginning your graduate program with us this fall. Since our records show that you have been officially accepted, we would just like to verify that you will be attending so that we can continue to provide you with information and have orientation materials for you. Please take a moment to advise us of your intentions.

PLEASE type directly onto this form, save it, and then e-mail it as directed.

NAME1:    NAME2:    DATE:
(Last/family name)                          (First/given name)

- Yes, I will be coming. I expect to arrive
- No, I have decided not to attend Binghamton University.
Instead, I will be attending

PhD Students – We also need to know if you will be attending the free course, Math Boot Camp (ECON 603, Advanced Mathematical Analysis for Economists).

Will you be attending Math Boot Camp (August 17-29)?

- Yes     No

MA students will be offered a similar course, ECON 503, as part of their spring 2016 schedule.

International Students – Have you obtained your visa yet?

- Yes     No

If you have not yet obtained a visa please inform us via e-mail when you receive it.

Please fill out the form, save as a Word document and attach to an e-mail message.

Please return by July 15 to:

Joanne Ardune
E-mail: jardune@binghamton.edu

YOUR E-MAIL ADDRESS: Your Binghamton e-mail account (Bmail) is handled through Gmail, which is not available in all countries. Therefore the Economics Department will continue to use all of the e-mail addresses provided until the start of the fall semester.

NOTE: You should still claim your Binghamton e-mail address and begin using it as soon as it is practical and possible.