The Fernand Braudel Center for the Study of Economies, Historical Systems, and Civilizations at Binghamton University presents

Capitalism and Slavery: The Atlantic, Africa, and Beyond
A Colloquium in Honor of Catherine Coquery-Vidrovitch

ALL SESSIONS HELD IN THE FERNAND BRAUDEL CENTER, AA–330 • BINGHAMTON UNIVERSITY

The Port of Santos, Unknown. Photo Courtesy of the Collection of Rafael de Bivar Marquese

FRIDAY, MARCH 23

9:30 – 9:40 AM
Welcome: Richard E. Lee
Director, Fernand Braudel Center (Binghamton University)

Opening Remarks: Dale Tomich
Deputy Director, Fernand Braudel Center (Binghamton University)

9:45 – 10:30 AM
Keynote Speaker: Catherine Coquery-Vidrovitch
(Diderot Paris-VII University)
L’esclavage africain au XIXe siècle, partenaire indissociable de la traite atlantique

Session 1
11 – 11:30 AM
Pepijn Brandon (International Institute of Social History, Amsterdam)
Capitalism and Slavery in the Very Long Run: The Changing Functions of Slavery in the Dutch Empire (Sixteenth–Nineteenth Centuries)

11:30 AM – 12 PM
Tâmis Parron (Universidade Federal Fluminense, Brazil)
The Global Space-Time of the World-Economy: Slavery and (the New History of) Capitalism

Session 2
1:30 – 2 PM
Christopher R. DeCorse (Syracuse University)
Slavery, Africa, and Political Economies of the Atlantic World

2 – 2:30 PM
Paul E. Lovejoy (York University, Toronto)
The Jihad Movement and the Development of Second Slavery in West Africa in the Nineteenth Century

2:30 – 3 PM
Richard B. Allen (Framingham State University)
Merchant Capital and Slave Trading in the Western Indian Ocean, 1770–1830

Session 3
3:30 – 4 PM
Michael Zeuske (University of Cologne)
Second Slavery and Hidden Atlantic: Accumulation and Capitalism of Human Bodies between Africa and the Americas in the Nineteenth Century

4 – 4:30 PM
Mariana Candido (University of Notre Dame)
African Business Women in the Age of Second Slavery in Angola

4:30 – 5 PM
Henry Lovejoy (University of Colorado, Boulder)
The Commodification of Freedom in Colonial Cuba during the Nineteenth Century

Roundtable:
1 – 2 PM
Sven Beckert (Harvard University)
Dale Tomich (Binghamton University)

SATURDAY, MARCH 24

9:30 – 10 AM
Klaus Weber (European University Viadrina, Frankfurt)
Samuel Eleazar Wendt (European University Viadrina)
African Labor and Industrial Progress in Nineteenth- and Early Twentieth-Century Germany

10 – 10:30 AM
Janet Ewald (Duke University)
Captive Labor and Semi-Captive Labor: The Second Slavery and Maritime Contract Labor in the Indian Ocean, c. 1770–1900

11:15 – 11:45 AM
Patrick Manning (University of Pittsburgh)
The Second Slavery in Africa: Migration and Political Economy in the Nineteenth Century