The Binghamton University Forum

The Binghamton University Forum is a membership organization that brings together people who share a commitment for advancing the University and the community, while strengthening the bond between the two. Binghamton University Forum events encourage innovative thinking, generate real discussions and give members the opportunity to meet remarkable people. These events also provide a rich environment for personal and professional networking.

“…The Binghamton University Forum provides, through its monthly programs, the opportunity to interact regularly with faculty and University administrators as well as meet and network with like-minded leaders of the local business community. I have learned a great deal through Forum events and had an opportunity to get to know many wonderful people.”
— Hans Dalmolen ’98, Managing Partner, Valletta Ritson & Company, chair of the Forum’s Membership Committee and a Forum member since 2009

Be among the first to learn about University initiatives and growth

The University is making an unprecedented investment in the community, including the:

- $70 million, 114,000-square-foot Smart Energy Research and Development Facility
- $60 million, 70,000-square-foot School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences
- $19 million, 35,000-square-foot Southern Tier High Technology Incubator
Binghamton University Forum members learn about new programs and projects directly from University leaders, including President Harvey G. Stenger.

“We are on our way to becoming among the premier public universities in the United States. I see the Binghamton University Forum as a focal point of these efforts going forward.”

— Harvey G. Stenger, Binghamton University President

As a Binghamton University Forum member, you will:

- receive University updates from President Stenger
- join leaders who are working to improve life in the Southern Tier and beyond
- help Binghamton become the premier public university of the 21st century
- build professional and personal relationships that will last a lifetime
OUR VISION:
A premier university in a vibrant community.
