

your life on campus

Resident life is good

Within the larger University setting, we offer our residents a true community feeling – socially, academically, and conveniently. Each of our communities is broken down into smaller halls, offering a variety of weekly social events where it's easy to meet and make friends. Locally based hubs also make academic success easier with living and learning classes, peer mentoring and academic advising available right in your community. Everything you need, including class, is just minutes away, which means you'll save on sleep, gas and parking. Buses are available for both on and off campus, easily tracked with our new app and are free with your University ID. The traditional communities have their own dining halls with a variety of food options from vegetarian to chicken fingers available via our flexible meal plans with a swipe of your BUC$ card. If you're craving coffee, fresh baked bagels, fruit smoothies or chicken biryani – the University Union's Marketplace and Einstein's Bagels are centrally located – close to classes and residential halls.

A culture of diversity and inclusion

Binghamton University's strength lies in its people. Our students, faculty and staff represent a great variety of cultures, backgrounds and ideas. Our community members contribute to the creation of an open, supportive campus environment with high levels of intellectual and creative energy. Building on our strengths, Binghamton aspires to become more than a multicultural institution; it strives to become a genuinely inclusive community, one where those with differing backgrounds and allegiances feel valued and can learn from one another, and one where civility, respect and reasoned debate prevail.

Multiple housing options

Whether you prefer views of the hills or the woods, or want to live in a suite, flat or corridor-style room, Binghamton has a space to make you feel at home. We offer specialty housing options of gender inclusive, chemical-free, quiet living, and break housing as well as apartment-style living for upperclassmen, graduate students, transfers and families. Whatever your housing style, we have a home for you.

Safety, security and support

NY State University police, ambulance services and maintenance are on call 24/7. Residential Life staff are available whenever you have a problem or need to talk. All residence halls are locked and require a key card to access the building, but if you lock yourself out of your room, our live-in staff will be there to help.

All-inclusive amenities

On-campus housing offers:

- wireless access
- cable tv access in all bedrooms and lounges
- dining halls and after-hours dining options
- computer labs
- community room/lounges
- laundry facilities
- fully equipped kitchens
- study lounges
- academic advising and tutoring services
- university police, health, wellness, dietary and emergency services

For more information:
reslife.binghamton.edu

E-mail: reslife@binghamton.edu

Residential Life

Binghamton Residential Life
CIW Tuscarora 213
Phone: 607-777-2321
Fax: 607-777-4350
E-mail: reslife@binghamton.edu

reslife.binghamton.edu
fb.com/binghamtonreslife
twitter.com/BingUnivResLife
instagram.com/bingreslife

BINGHAMTON
UNIVERSITY
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

the best communities

Residential communities are more than a place to eat and sleep – they are central to academic success. At Binghamton University, our communities provide support for both living and learning and an invaluable University experience.

Binghamton’s collegiate system, modeled after Oxford in England, is an organizational structure that combines academic opportunities for learning with a community atmosphere where students live. We are the only SUNY campus with this model of living/learning. Our residents share experiences, history and traditions while developing lasting friendships, strong bonds and a community culture that sustain them through graduation and beyond. Binghamton Residential Life has an apartment community and five traditional communities comprised of four to five residence halls, each with its own professional staff, programs, dining and recreation. We have a strong student to staff ratio that ensures our students have 24/7 assistance and ample opportunity to connect, learn and grow.

Learning communities are part of the residential college model. Classes and experiences are designed for each community to foster interaction and learning within a smaller group. Each community has its own theme with area-based classes that are relevant and reserved just for residents. Residents who sign up for learning communities are usually housed together and have opportunities to participate in special group service projects, workshops and field trips with other students sharing similar interests and goals.

Collegiate Professors are part of the living/learning model and they play an essential role in helping Residential Life students adjust to living within their communities as well as navigate their academic courses. These tenured faculty members teach on campus and have an office in their community. They provide academic advising, work with student government and develop programs around specific themes for their community.

	College in the Woods	Dickinson	Hinman	Mountainview	Newing	the Apartments	Room Styles
Location/ Closest to:	South campus. Buses, Engineering building & University Union	East campus. Health Services	South campus. Lecture Hall, Library, Science buildings & Fine Arts	South campus. Nature Preserve	East campus. East Gym and new turf field, disc golf course	West campus. Nature Preserve	Corridor-style doubles – each room houses two students, in College-in-the-Woods and Health and Wellness, bathrooms are shared by floor; in Newing, each set of three rooms share a bathroom.
Buildings:	Cayuga, Mohawk, Oneida, Onondaga, Seneca	Digman, Johnson, O’Connor, Rafuse, Health & Wellness	Cleveland, Hughes, Lehman, Roosevelt, Smith	Cascade, Hunter, Marcy, Windham	Bingham, Broome, Delaware, Endicott	Hillside Community - 16 buildings Susquehanna Community - 4 buildings	Suites – four- or six-person, contains a common room, bathroom, a double and a triple or three doubles, each with a lounge, and a bathroom with a stall shower.
Learning Communities:	International Relations and Cultural Exchange, Politics, Law and Society	CoRE (Computers, Robotics and Engineering), ELC (Entrepreneurship Learning Community)	Public Service, ALIVE (Achieving Leadership in Volunteer Experience)	Engineering, Nursing, STEAM (STEM & Arts), Social Activism	Global Engagement, Binghamton Scholars	Career and Professional Development	Flats – either four single rooms or two doubles and a single, shares two bathrooms and an entry vestibule.
Room Styles:	Corridor-style doubles, four- and six-person suites	Four- and five-person flats, designed triples, corridor- style doubles	Four- and six- person suites	Four- and six-person suites, designed triples	Corridor-style doubles, designed triples	Two-, four- and six-person apartments with single bedrooms triples	Designed triples – larger room housing three students with one bathroom. For more information, photos and 3D renderings of rooms, visit each community's web page and click on Room Styles.
Specialty Housing Options:	Break, transfer, chemical-free, gender inclusive housing	Chemical-free, gender inclusive housing	Chemical-free, quiet living, gender inclusive housing	Break, chemical-free, gender inclusive housing	Break, chemical-free, gender inclusive housing	Break, transfer, gender inclusive, quiet living (in Susquehanna), graduate student housing	reslife.binghamton.edu/communities

Binghamton Residential Life