Students' original compositions performed by Music faculty and students at the "Painted Exchanges: Artists and Paintmakers 1968-76" opening at the Binghamton University Art Museum. (Music composition course taught by Daniel Thomas Davis. Exhibition curated by Andrea Kastner and Pamela Smart.)

Hello School of the Arts! Some interesting TV features lately – WSKG partnered with Binghamton University Music Department to go behind the scenes of their production of the classic children's opera "Hansel & Gretel." You can watch a short preview of "Behind The Scenes of Hansel & Gretel" or the entire 30-minute show here (thanks to Jean Goodheart, David Carl Toulson, and all the faculty & students that were involved)!

Also, our African Dance-drumming Ensemble Nukporfe, directed by James Burns and Elikem Nyamuame, was featured as part of a Martin Luther King program on PBS!

Lots more going on and coming up. Be sure to scroll down to see what our School of the Arts has planned in March. Full School of the Arts calendar here.

These funds are made possible through the generosity of alumnus Mitchell J. Lieberman '80 and Susan Lieberman.

SCHOOL OF THE ARTS UNDERGRADUATE MIXER!

March 15th 4:00 - 5:30 p.m.
Cinema Department
Lecture Hall - B89

Every semester, a different department from the School of the Arts will host an undergraduate mixer in their own space. We are launching this initiative in the Cinema Department. Stop by, meet your fellow School of the Arts students, eat some food, and learn about the amazing work you're doing.
