Hello, School of the Arts!

There are several upcoming events and opportunities I would like to bring to your attention as we roll into November.

November 8: is the deadline for the Harpur College Faculty Research and Subvention Fund Program, which provides up to $5,000 to support scholarly, creative, and artistic activities of post-tenure Harpur College faculty. Let's get some more arts applications!

November 11: as part of Harpur Week, School of the Arts is teaming up with the Fleishman Center to bring the second in our "Tips for the Real World" panel series. For this panel, Colin Lyons, Associate Professor of Art and Design, will present on art residencies, and Julia Walker, Associate Professor of Art History, will talk about the built environment industry. This is a great opportunity for students to gain practical advice and tangible ways to start a career in the arts. More info and register here.

As part of our increased presence in admissions events, we have been hosting Arts building tours at every Open House this fall. We had two in October, and two more coming November 3 and 9. Thanks so much to our students who have been leading these tours with me!
