Office of Student Conduct
Sanction Guidelines 2018-19

For any conduct system to be credible, consistency must be a central element. These guidelines are intended to provide the community with a basic understanding of the consequences that result from specific behavior. However, for a disciplinary system to be fair it must be flexible enough to respond to each student as an individual and to the particular facts and circumstances of each case. Sanctions should reflect the University's desire to educate the student and the community while at the same time fostering a safe and secure campus environment for all students. Sanctions should also reflect the given set of circumstances of the case. Sanctioning decisions at Binghamton University seek to balance the goals of consistency of the process with the flexibility required to provide fairness to individual students. The University also strives to provide outcomes that are educationally appropriate given the facts of each case.

If a student is found to be responsible for a policy violation, or for attempting to violate or assisting in the violation of a policy, sanctions will be imposed. Appropriate sanctions will be determined based on the specific facts of the case, the student's level of intent, the student's prior disciplinary history, and the information set forth throughout this document regarding conduct expectations, aggravating and mitigating factors, and the outcomes of prior cases.

Sanction Definitions

Conduct Warning – A conduct warning is an official acknowledgment that one or more rules have been violated and considered a low-level sanction. Conduct warning serves as notice to a student that the behavior is counter to the expectations in the Code of Student Conduct.

Disciplinary Probation — Disciplinary probation is a serious and active response to a violation of rules and may include Educational intervention or other requirements as a term of the probation. Probation is for a designated period of time and includes the probability of more severe disciplinary sanctions if the student is found responsible for further violations of the Code of Student Conduct during the probationary period. While on probation, students may be ineligible to receive certain University awards or scholarships. At the discretion of campus offices and programs, students on probation may be ineligible for employment and/or participation in certain campus programs.

Loss of Privileges — Loss of privileges is the loss of specified privileges such as use of a particular facility, visitation to a residence hall, housing priority, contact with an individual or other privileges for a designated period of time.

Educational Projects and Community Service — These sanctions involve the completion of projects, assignments, essays, service to the University, facilitation of or participation in programs or other related assignments.

Restitution — Restitution may include payment to an individual or to the University to cover the cost of damage, destruction, defacement, theft or unauthorized use of property. It may also include payment for medical bills not covered by insurance.

Relocation or Removal from Housing — Relocation is the reassignment of a student from one living space to another. Removal from housing is the removal of a student from all University-operated housing. Relocation and removal from housing are usually accompanied by loss of visitation privileges to specified residential areas, and are imposed for a specified period of time.

Final Probation — Final probation is imposed only in very serious cases or cases where students are currently under a significant sanction. Final probation may include removal from all University housing and loss of visitation privileges to buildings or areas of campus and is imposed for a specified period of time. Students found responsible for any further violation of the Code of Student Conduct while on final probation may be suspended or expelled from the University.

Suspension — Suspension is the separation of the student from the University for a definite period of time, after which the student is eligible to return. Conditions for readmission may be specified. Students who have been suspended may not be on campus without specific, written permission of the dean of students.

Expulsion — Expulsion is the permanent separation of the student from the University. Students who have been expelled may not be on campus without specific, written permission of the dean of students.

A Note on Sanction Duration

Any sanction with a time element (e.g. probation, suspension, etc) will be assigned in units of semesters. In most cases, the sanction will begin immediately upon the conclusion of the case. The current semester when a sanction is imposed is a countable semester in the sanction duration. Winter and Summer terms are not included in the semester timeline. The sanction will end on the last day of the last month of the semester (May 31 or December 31 in most cases).

For example, if a student is sanctioned with 2 semesters of Probation on March 15, 2019 then they will be on probation for the rest of the Spring 19 term, over the summer, and through the Fall 19 term. The 2-semester probation will conclude on December 31, 2019.

Alcohol Policy Violations

Rule #1

Consumption, possession or purchase of alcoholic beverages by any person less than the minimum age allowed by law. Distribution of alcoholic beverages to anyone less than the minimum age allowed by law

Rule #2

Possession of more than one case of beer (288 oz. or 24 12-oz. cans or bottles), two liters of wine and two liters of Distilled spirits, or bulk containers of alcohol.

The University is primarily concerned for the health and safety of the campus community. Binghamton University imposes disciplinary sanctions for violations of the alcohol policy as a means to educate students and deter behavior that negatively impacts the individual or the community. First-time violations of the alcohol policy will result in a referral to Binghamton's educational and /or medical intervention and a warning. In addition, students are encouraged to talk with their counselors and/or an alcohol educator about the role alcohol is playing in their life at Binghamton.

If a student fails to complete the educational/medical program, repeatedly violates the alcohol policy, or violates other University policies, he or she will be subject to disciplinary sanctions that usually include compliance with the education/medical program. Sanctions increase in severity with repeated offenses and serious misconduct.

Students who repeatedly violate this standard of conduct are of particular concern to the University because of the health risks to the student. In situations where the incident results in relocation from housing or other serious penalties, parents may be contacted.

Good Samaritan Actions

In cases of alcohol and prohibitive drug intoxication, the primary concern is the health and safety of the individual(s) involved. Individuals are strongly encouraged to call for medical assistance for themselves or a friend/acquaintance who is suffering alcohol poisoning. No student seeking medical treatment for an alcohol or other drug-related overdose or other life-threatening medical emergency will be subject to University discipline for the sole violation of using or possessing alcohol or drugs. This policy shall extend to another student seeking help for the intoxicated student or the student who is facing a medical emergency.

Drug Policy Violations

Rule #3

Possession, personal use or purchasing of marijuana, controlled substances, prescription drugs prescribed to another person, illegal drugs; or possession of drug paraphernalia containing drug residue.

Rule #4

Distribution of controlled substances, prescription drugs prescribed to another person or illegal drugs.

Federal and state laws control the possession, use and sale of drugs and include penalties for violations. Binghamton University prohibits the illegal possession or distribution of any illicit drug so defined under state or federal law, and views the use, possession, or sale of any illicit drug as contradictory to the welfare of both the individual and the campus community. The harmful effects of drug abuse on physical and mental health are well established, as are the costs of such actions both academically and legally.

It is critical that all members of the community understand and anticipate the University's response to individual cases of illegal use, possession, transfer, distribution and trafficking in illicit drugs or the attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy to commit any such offenses. Action taken by the University in all cases of drug violations will be guided by a concern both for the welfare of the person involved and for the maintenance of a suitable educational environment for all members of the campus community. The University is not a law enforcement agency and does not assess the penalties specified in state and federal laws. Adjudication of violations of the drug policy, however, may reflect current medical and legal standards related to different classes of illicit drugs. Additionally, the University will cooperate with local, state and federal authorities. University Police Officers will confiscate observed drug paraphernalia or apparently illegal drugs and students found to be in possession of these items are subject to arrest.

A violation of federal, state, or local laws concerning drugs is a violation of University policy and is subject to University disciplinary action up to and including suspension or expulsion.

Students are accountable for their own decisions regarding the use of illicit drugs; they are also responsible for knowing and complying with applicable University policies and state and federal laws related to illicit drugs.

Theft

Rule #5

Theft of property or services; or knowingly possessing stolen property

Binghamton is a community that values safety and trust. Students who undermine this trust by misappropriating college and personal property usually face serious sanctions. Theft that has an impact on another student's ability to complete their academic work (i.e. theft of academic materials or electronic devices) will result in more serious sanctions.

Physical Violence/Threatening or Causing Harm

Rule #8

Endangering, threatening or causing physical harm to any person or causing reasonable apprehension of such harm.

As an academic community, Binghamton University is unequivocally committed to fostering an environment in which community members can feel personally safe and emotionally secure. The presence of violent behaviors or activities are diametrically contrary to institutional goals and are to be vigorously opposed in their myriad forms. In consideration of the broad range of behaviors that could qualify as 'violence', it is impossible to construct a set of specific sanctions to cover every possibility.

Instances of violence will be considered on an individual basis. However, since community safety is a principle concern for Binghamton University, most cases involving violence or threats of harm to others are considered serious enough to warrant a period of separation from the University.

If a student is deemed to be responsible for such a violation, appropriate sanctions will be based on the specific facts of the case, the student's intent, any aggravating or mitigating factors, and the student's prior disciplinary record. Decisions will be effected by the amount of harm done to others and the degree to which the behavior was intentional or irresponsible.

In general, a sanction for violence or harm to other will include:

- A period of disciplinary probation, suspension or expulsion.
- Educational intervention(s).
- Loss of housing

However, given the broad range of possibilities, sanctions will reflect the severity of the behavior and cannot be easily classified in a chart form.

Violence and Alcohol

Students are held accountable for their behavior while intoxicated and for any violations of the alcohol or other drugs policy. Sanctions for violence may be enhanced if alcohol or other drugs are involved.

Aggravating Factors

In cases of physical violence or threatening harm to another member of the community, aggravating factors may include whether or not the student responsible was substantially motivated by the victim's race, color, religion, sex, age, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, or military/veteran status. Another aggravating factor is the charged student's disciplinary history.

Sanctioning Considerations also Include:

- Level of harm
- Intent
- Context of the behavior
- Impact on the community
- Impact on the individual

Sexual Misconduct Violations

Rule #10

All forms of harassment including sexual harassment

Rule #11

Sexual Assault rape, any form of sexual violence, domestic violence and/or dating violence.

To protect the community, students found responsible for sexual assault should be prepared to be expelled. Where the facts and circumstances justify mitigating to a lesser sanction of suspension, students found responsible may also be subject to the following to promote the University's educational mission and to minimize disruption to the campus community:

- Required educational activities appropriate to the facts and circumstances of the case
- Required limitations on campus activities, including limited access to specific facilities or areas of the campus, adherence to the terms of "No Contact" orders, and other restrictions appropriate to the circumstances

Students found responsible for dating or domestic violence should likewise be prepared to face suspension or expulsion. Where the facts and circumstances justify mitigating to a lesser sanction of probation, students may also be subject to the following to promote the University's educational mission and to minimize disruption to the campus community:

- Required educational activities appropriate to the facts and circumstances of the case
- Required limitations on campus activities, including limited access to specific facilities or areas of the campus, adherence to the terms of "No Contact" orders, and other restrictions appropriate to the circumstances

Failure to comply with stated conditions of a disciplinary sanction may result in further disciplinary action, up to and including permanent separation from the University.

Some sexual misconduct cases involve students who have been in previous or subsequent relationships with one another. While the acknowledged previous or subsequent relationship provided context for the nature of the communication between students involved, the existence of a relationship does not relieve or mitigate the charged student's responsibility for engaging in sexual activity without consent.

The health and safety of every student at the State University of New York and its state-operated and community colleges is of utmost importance. Binghamton University recognizes that students who have been drinking and/or using drugs (whether such use is voluntary or involuntary) at the time that violence, including but not limited to domestic violence, dating violence, stalking or sexual assault occurs may be hesitant to report such incidents due to fear of potential consequences for their own conduct. Binghamton University strongly encourages students to report incidents of domestic violence, dating violence, stalking or sexual assault to institution officials. A bystander acting in good faith or a reporting individual acting in good faith that discloses any incident of domestic violence, dating violence, stalking or sexual assault to Binghamton University officials or law enforcement will not be subject to Binghamton University's code of conduct action for violations of alcohol and/ or drug use policies occurring at or near the time of the commission of the domestic violence, dating violence, stalking or sexual assault.

- Multiple terms of probation, and a requirement to comply with educational and other conditions specific to the case
